

Professor S. Selvam was born in a rural village of Valaiyapatti, Karur district in 1957, after the Pre-university education at St. Joseph's College, Tiruchirapalli, he was admitted in Madras Veterinary College, Chennai in the year 1976 for the degree course in Veterinary Science.

Following successful completion of B.V.Sc. Course he was appointed as Veterinary Assistant Surgeon on the basis of merit by Tamil Nadu Public Service Commission in 1982. After 2 years and sixth months of service as Veterinary Assistant Surgeon, he was selected as Agricultural officer in Punjab National Bank and worked in District Sirsa, Haryana upto 1990.

After completing his masters degree in Animal Husbandry Economics from Madras Veterinary College, Chennai. He joined Tamil Nadu Veterinary and Animal Sciences University, Chennai as an Assistant Professor in the Department of Animal Husbandry Economics in 1993 at Veterinary college and Research Institute, Namakkal.

Later he was promoted as Associate Professor in the year 2004, and posted at Veterinary University Training and Research Centre, Erode and then as Professor in 2011 at Madras Veterinary College, Chennai. He was Professor and Head, in the Department of Animal Husbandry Economics and Department of Animal Husbandry Statistics and Computer Applications, Madras Veterinary College, Chennai.

Tamil Nadu Veterinary and Animal Sciences University had assigned him many tasks which he has successfully executed.

He has guided 5 M.V.Sc. students and was Advisory Committee Members for many M.V.Sc. and Ph.D. students.

He has also served as expert committee member for the selection of teachers and examiner in SAU's.

Dr. S. Selvam firmly believes that the teacher is foundation of knowledge and teaches from the heart. Such impetus has motivated him to render his valuable services in Apollo College of Veterinary Medicine in various capacities for the cause of Veterinary education even in the post retired life.